Course details:

Within this course, Mr Graham Browning demonstrates his specialist knowledge in occlusal management. Occlusal management has evidence based studies detailing parafunctional habits such as: bruxism/ clenching, developmental defects, hard or rough-textured diet, and absence of posterior teeth support can all cause occlusal issues.

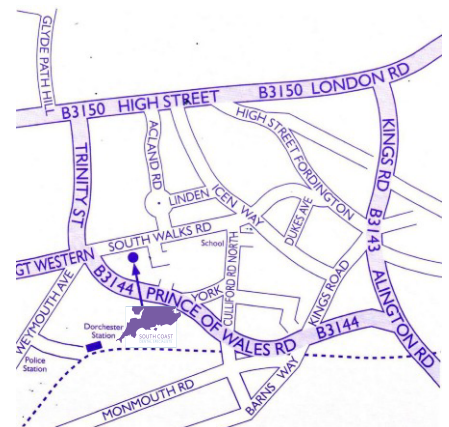

The first day is to get an understanding of occlusion and how it will help you in your day to day dental practice. You will be shown how to take a face bow record and how to mount models and what information you can get from these to make your dentistry better.

Max 20 participants

Day two is for people who have already done the introduction to occlusion day. You will learn how to make an occlusal splint, when your patients need one and hands on adjusting of an occlusal splint. You need to bring study casts and an occlusal splint blank made on your lower cast.

Max 10 participants

Please note: If dentists would prefer only to do day 2, they must have attended day 1 or attended a previous occlusion course run by Graham Browning
